Chief, [redacted] Office

Chief, Contact Division

RE: [redacted] Date of: 24 June

1. [redacted] call out of line in asking you to perform these services for him. He is probably doing so because he can't get the attention he thinks he deserves from [redacted]. We have discussed your memo with [redacted] and [redacted]. The answer to the points you raise is as follows:

a. If [redacted] wants and needs this report, he must get it direct from the [redacted]. [redacted] says, incidentally, that if he wanted it he could have picked it up when he was down here a month ago, but that we do not need to involve ourselves in getting it to him.

b. CIA need have nothing to do with bringing [redacted] into the project. [redacted] will have to handle that directly with [redacted].

c. [redacted] has bowed out of the picture completely. He has done nothing further on the subject of Federal [redacted] and does not know if his [redacted] has. [redacted] will have to take this up with the [redacted] which, for your information, has done nothing either.

d. We have told [redacted] that we plan no further action on your memo, short of informing [redacted] that we have discussed your point with the [redacted] and that he can shortly expect that [redacted] will communicate with him to find out what he needs.

e. In your dealings with [redacted], please try to get it through his head that the Agency is not a messenger service or a middle man and that his principals in Washington are in the [redacted] office and it is to them he must look for help. The method of getting this idea into his head, we leave to your usual good judgment.

Office Memorandum

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

A/B: 5, 25/2

TO : Chief, Contact Division
 FROM : Chief, Scientific Branch
 SUBJECT: [REDACTED]

DATE: 24 June 1952

A

1. We furnished [REDACTED] with the substance of [REDACTED]. If any problems arise in connection with his trip he will take them up with the [REDACTED]. He plans to see him when he gets back for anything he may have picked up not related to the [REDACTED]'s interests.

2. In the absence of any instructions to the contrary, [REDACTED] requested our assistance with the following three problems:

a. In 1951 he submitted a Progress Report covering his work on narco-analysis, all copies of this report, which is classified "TOP SECRET", are in the custody of the [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] probably either [REDACTED] or [REDACTED]. A copy of this report is needed in connection with his present work and he asks that if possible [REDACTED] be given the report in the near future. He brings a copy with him.

B/C

b. [REDACTED] requests permission to enlist the assistance of [REDACTED] and a staff member at the [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] believes that [REDACTED] has a "Q" clearance. It is [REDACTED]'s plan to use him on certain of the scientific aspects of the project, but since [REDACTED] is an FBI he would require clearance. [REDACTED] will see him in on the background.

B/C

c. On 3 March 1952 [REDACTED] was visited by [REDACTED] (CIA) and two others. This meeting included a discussion of possible future experimental subjects and [REDACTED] volunteered to investigate the possibility of using volunteers from Federal prisons. Work has progressed to a point where the use of such subjects is necessary and [REDACTED] wants to know whether or not [REDACTED] was successful.

Since [REDACTED] will be leaving on 1 August, he would appreciate early action on these matters.
